IT'S ME

There was a boy named Critil Jack. Long ago, his parents died from lightning strike while they travelled in the car. So he was fostering by his auntie, Mandalia. Jack had so many assets. So, his auntie consented him to take care and she was rudely behaved to Jack. Some days passed, it was a day did anyone knows which came into commence may be with delight or wretched with grief.

It was a letter posted to her address by her husband, Daniel. With the letterhead of Loss. She gazed into the body of a letter.

Dear Honey,

I am sorrowed and I am at the position of not even saying I am fine. It began with quietness, as I looked at the sea it was crystal pure limpid. After an hour, a sea wave seemed to be enlighten in the sparkled sky like a cullinan diamond, it alarmed us. It appeared like the warriors thumping their shield with their swords, when the sea waves struck the Boat. It was a unique wave flabbergasted on seeing that when my Boat sailors went closer came to know that it was not a normal wave but that was an immenseand ominous tsunami. All of them alacrity and became more consciousness. So, we donned a life jacket and called the mayday calls. The captain tried with the full breath to change the Boat's direction in west as insisted by the mayday calls. All of a sudden, another gargantuan wave which arose like a thousands of blue whale linked in the chain together, and it came with the greater force in a jiffy, it destroyed the Boat and the things which were traded to Portugal that was the sets of seven precious books wisdom, happiness, time, success, courage and discipline but one book was missed already. These books had been devastated by a treacherous waves and my business was Humpty – Dumpty fell. So I asked you to help me in settle the money for the losses.

Yours lovingly,
Daniel.

Mandalia was bothered about the condition of her husband and the losses on his business. She started thinking about the money for the losses; then she got one intention of killing the Critil Jack. If he died, then all assets would get in the name of Mandalia, was her thought.

On a first day morning, a glorious red mixed yellow sheet covered the sky but seasonally a shower of drizzle with the earth's fragrance and with the patchy sky. Every pearl drops make tinkle on the singles which tuned a music throughout the house. Jack woke up with the act of pandiculation. His appearance was too handsome with the honey dye-hair; moony-face; greedy green-eyes; rosy-lip; all of us would fell unconditional love with Jack. He had a dazzle blue scar which was three stars followed by two dots vertically on his right arch of foot and also he had one broken ruby stone presented inside his forehead. But he didn't know the stone presented on his forehead. His auntie abused him much. So, he was obnoxious in his auntie house. He did all the routine work in his house like sweeping, cooking and washing. There was only a woeful in Jack's life. His friend Mittu, a parrot, came to see him every night. It secretly lived in the attic of Jack's room. Jack didn't know about his influence and also the powers present hidden inside him.

After seeing his face, Mittu came to know that Jack was woeful because of his auntie. So Mittu endeavored to revolt his depressed mood by singing and dancing but Jack disregarded. So, it again thought to divert his depressed mood by telling a story about the 'It's me' world. It's not a fairy tale. It was a real story that happened in human life. It started the story with a face full of expression and with a body gesture. Jack was enamored by his story and started to hear the story of that world.

Mittu told that everyone could not enter that city only a few who have dazzling powers they could enter. Jack swiftly ask Mittu, the way to get into the city. The parrot said the city was called as "It's Me" if you wanted to go to that city, then scrub your arch of foot and warmly press your center of the forehead. Jack eagerly tried that, he scrubbed his arch of foot and warmly pressed his forehead. But there was no change. The parrot told him that we could only enter into the It's Me city at 2:00 AM. They both kept on seeing the clock "Tick-Tock, Tick-Tock." It's now 1:50 AM. Their eyes were fully opened like an owl and even more enthusiasm. Jack did that process suddenly a bright light sparkled like thousands of sun; a diamond door with the tiny shining twinkle twinkle little stars circulated the door. It's an amazing door, occupied with Gothic sculpture. He touched the Gothic glass knob. It starts to radiate in blue and slowly arose from down to top. As the door radiate pervaded to the door, the Gothic knocker automatically knocked on the door and said, "Shower on cheerful Jack and Mittu." It was very thrilling door and the low beep sound came with a highly increasing and the door size was also increasing along with the beep sound. Suddenly the sound and size of the door stopped increasing. It was thirty-five inches wide by eighty-eight inches tall and almost five inches thick. The door unlatched after the knock. It was a most glorious hours in both their life and some painting crossed his mind but Jack ignores it because of the extremely delightful and excitement on the thrilling door.

They both were dipped into the joy of miracle and they both were frozen and a sudden Jerk, they stepped into the world with happiness. They notice a flip chart on the right side with a little unknown information about them in the briberra font.

"Jack, with an excellent talent of cooking and he always hope to get a good family."

"Mittu, with an excellent talent of singing and always attempt to make people laughter."

They chuckled after read the information, suddenly the place was buried by sparkling crystals with the sparkled light. The light continued for a second. Some seconds later, Jack was completely changed and his ordinary dress was now changed into a prince dress, had a sword on the left side of the dress, he seemed like a prince. Mittu also transformed, Its beak was sharper, its greenish fur soft as velvet, the wings altered into a brawny and even could cut the wind.

They moved ten steps into It's Me with great pleasure in an instant, a voice which was very vicious, knocked the door. Jack was palpitate mixed with petrified. He was one step reversed and they went out of the door. Magically the door was vanished and also both the appearance prior to. A knocking sound hit both ears like explosion of booms.

His body was a fire again, and sweat tricked down his face because he was palpitated about the secret world. There were two feelings in one heart at the high level of the Himalayan peak.

It was butterflies in the stomach; Leeches on the heart; brain gulped all his feelings from his face. He opened the door that was his auntie. She brought a cup of soup to Jack at midnight. Jack was deadpan expressive and being in great nervousness about the door so, without asking a question he drank the soup.

Auntie went out of the room, Mittu came from the hidden, behind the door. It felt too sleepy, so it went to the attic in Jack's room after said "Good night" to his soul friend. Jack was also fatigued. Everything seemed meaningless because he saw all the objects doubled. It was a sensation of repulsion. So he slept on the old bed with the gleaming nasty white with some green stripes along the sides, stuffed with the Egyptian cotton and it had the mimicking of some maps on it. He slept on the nasty bed.

A black filled the blanks on the cloudy board, the moon was shimmered, stars were twinkled, an admin wind made the trees sang, little sparkled frozen pearls were embellished, silence filled and it's a masterpiece scenery by night.

In the morning, sun got up like a baby and started painting the dark black sky into a bright blue sky. The bright gazed milky and fluffy clouds were got up from sleep and started traveling around the sky. Sometime passed, now the sky was without the fluffy clouds but not without the birds chirping and the pleasing sounds. The birds enjoyed the cool breeze. The sun rays slowly entered the window and rapidly ran towards the Critil Jack. The rays of the beautiful sun woke him up from the lazy snooze bed to have a shower bath. He quitted the room and went to the drawing-room to do all his routine work. His auntie was sitting on the modernized yellow couch and having coffee in the drawing- room. Jack said, "Good morning" to his auntie. She greeted again with a wretched voice.

She ordered Jack to do all his usual customary toil. Laboriously, he prepared the delicious Indian dish dosa with Chettinad chicken curry for breakfast. He scuffles with the time to pass the day because he was even more exhilarated to get into that city. He hardly pushed the time successfully and it was now 1:55 AM. Mittu came out from the attic. Mittu told Jack to do the process for the It's Me door and they were coveted. Jack did the process. Suddenly a bright light sparkled like thousands of sun and a diamond door with the tiny shining twinkle twinkle little stars were circulated around the door. It's an amazing door, occupied with a Gothic sculpture. He touched the glass Gothic knob. It started to radiate in blue it slowly arose from down to top. As the radiation pervaded the door, the Gothic knocker automatically knocked on the door and said, "Shower on cheerful Jack and Mittu." They got into the thrilling door and some painting crossed his mind but he ignores, all happened as before. Jack was completely changed but not as before, it was total upside down.

The ordinary dress of Jack was now changed into tattered clothes. Mittu greenish fur was now changed. All the result was in the gloom – ridden. Suddenly a mellifluous voice came and said sorry to Jack and Mittu. They were greatly disappointed. Jack asked, "Who are you?". He told "I am new to 'Phenicks Fenestrio' and you could call me as Little Prince". Jack asked the Little Prince to elucidate about the It's Me city. He corrected them now, Jack was in sumptuous admired in the red garment and Mittu beak was sharper and the wings transformed into a brawny wings. Little Prince was a little fairy with two dragonfly wings. He said "You changed because of the wrong spell of incantation."

He started from the 'Phenicks Fenestrio.' He said this was a city of fairies and there were many distinguished teams in Phenicks Fenestrio for the distinguished branch. Blue Moon and Black Moon were girls. Red woods and Green Woods were boys.

Blue Moon, they would furnish and adorn It's Me and also they fabricate the equipment box of tricks for the battle or for preventing the city. This girls' team had a specific ring with a blue diamond and their strength was on their white Angel wings. They had the capacity of flying faster and loftier. They had the power of dominating Adam's ale.

Black Moon, they were the warriors of north and south with the power of dominating the light. This team had a specific ring with black diamonds and they had dragon wings.

Red woods, they were the warriors of east and west with the power of dominating the fire. These boys had a specific ring with red beryl crystal and they have fire wings.

Green Woods, they would prepare medicine and fragrances from herbs and shrubs. They had the power of dominating trees and plants. This team had a specific ring with Colombian emerald crystal and they had dragonfly wings.

They both with exuberant hear about the world. Time moved swiftly a beep sound from Jack's watch, it's now 7:00 AM. Jack sprightly told the Little Prince that they both wanted to return to their own place. Little Prince asked, "You didn't visit our world, then why were you vacated?". Jack said, "We would come back today morning" and said "Thank you" to Little Prince for elucidating about It's Me. Little Prince called two cute tailed stars. Instantaneously two stars came and took them both to their room. Jack was so wrecked. A thumping behind the door. Jack was thunderbolt, Mittu hide in the attic. He opened the door and it was his auntie. She asked Jack, "Why were you delayed in coming to the drawing-room". He said, "I feel worn-out". His auntie replied that she would do all the work today with a fruity voice and told him to take a rest.

He and Mittu had a catnap on his snooze bed. A drowsy morning and a gust of wind blew against his face which made him woke up after a little doze. Red on his body started to travel around five inches, the Green color started to transfer the passenger to the brain and the brain told that the passenger was at the very long road and reached its destination. Eyes opened, Jack woke up and briskly towards the toilet. Time moved with the quietness.

She prepared supper. All were marshaled together in a dining table. All the one enjoyed the luscious food. After supper, Jack went to his room wobbly. He sat on the bed Mittu came from the attic and asked Jack to do the process. He was unable to do that process and spewed up several times. Deliberately sound beyond the door, Mittu went to the attic. His auntie get inside the room, trivial about him and said goodbye, my dear and evacuated the room. Mittu spread its wings and soared out of the house to call Mr. Riddles. After a few minutes, a parrot back to the house and sat on the headboard (top rail) in the bed. A big quiver and the floor was opened a colorful ring appeared and it slowly higher towards the upper floor and vanished.

Narcissus plants grew from the floor and having three big buds. The buds attempted to blossom. The buds opened; all the three buds were in different appearances. The first bud was in aqua blue color and its petals have some water drops. The second bud was in a fire red color and there were no petals, only the fire was blazing the shape of a flower. It looks like the fire had assembled the shape of a flower and the third bud was a grassy green color. It's strived over blossom was successful and there were colorful balls on the corona of each flower. The first blue ball was filled with water and the second ball was as comet and the third glass ball have nothing inside it.

Those three glass balls shook and the wings were grown at the top of the glass balls. It's started to waggle around the room, and these three meted at a point and amalgamated as a single ball in multicolor. A glass ball was frozen and it was burst. A man with perplexing appearance, the torso of a human and the lower was a snake tail. Mittu told Mr. Riddles that Jack was being killed by his auntie. Mr. Riddles took a conical glass from his long black trench coat. He opened it and he chanted magic; he became so tiny. Mr. Riddles put him on a necromantic conical glass bottle and told Mittu to follow him.

A Giant appearance;
But not a monster.
A big brown trunk;
But not a trunk box.
A place of living;
But not a place.
A red ball as ornaments,
But not a ball.

Giant tree with a brown trunk, the lovely chirping of birds living on the branches, and round red fruits.

All they were standing under the Giant tree. Mr. Riddles put a plucked leaf into a glass bottle, magically they all became a rainy drops and those rainy drops entered into the roots of the tree. Then the roots shifted the water into the soil. They reached the world of the second segment, 'UNDERGROUND', which was an underworld. The tiny drops were now changed as what they were. But Jack alone endured on the glass bottle. A gigantic door had a statue of Hades on its median. Mr. Riddles invited Mittu to the Underground. A door unlatched when the two soldiers saw Mr. Riddles. They entered into the city.

Mittu looked all around the city, then he noticed that all the people of Underground with the perplexed appearances. All the people on this city had the top of human appearance and the bottom of animals, birds or some objects. There was a huge statue in the entrance of this city. It was the statue of king of Underground. The king had a bottom of 'the body of pencil with the brown lead' and the soldiers were with the bottom of a grisly monstrous dragon tail, at the top they had gargantuan dragon wings and also they had the capable of breathing fire from their mouth. Mittu was flabbergasted by those appearances of the people in the Underground.

Mr. Riddles darted into the hall of the Underground palace. Mathsreiu was a younger brother to king, he was in a blue color, with fire wings and in the bottom he had water vortex. When the king, Celestal, saw Mr. Riddles, he bowed down. Mr. Riddles was an ingenious doctor as well as a good wizard. He had a long beard and mustache, wearing a long black trench coat. He told about Jack's condition to Celestal and also he wanted to do treatment for Jack. His brother Mathsreiu allotted a room to Jack for taking treatment.

Mr. Riddles took a conical glass bottle and opened it & spelled his medical magical words. Promptly, one hair from his beard grew longer and longer. It started to gleam and the hair stretched into the glass; the hair bound his body and took out of the bottle and put him on the bed. He became to the original size and the long hair returned to its origin. Another two hair from the beard and head of Mr. Riddles grew longer and longer one was in the cyan other was in chartreuse green. The chartreuse green hair plucked out from Mr. Riddles head and started fly towards the library, but there was no book associated with Jack issue.

Later, it took a book 'Bald Philippine' for Jack's problem after finding the solution. The chartreuse green turned into glittered green and the green hair ordered the sleepy solution words to wake up. The words people, after the glitter patted on the words they woke up from their deep sleep and started to follow the green hair. After reached the room the glittered green became white and went to its genesis. Next, cyan color hair plucked out of the head. The words turned into an outer board of harp, then the cyan flare hair became the sting of a harp. A girl at the left side of the harp kicked off, warbling the solution with the automatic tuning in the harp.

"It was such a bane and there was only one book in the world which contains the medicine for this bane and the book was now in 'Bald Philippine'. Which had been closed for years." The cyan went to its genesis.

He told the Mittu to sit on his shoulder. He took a velvet cloth from his coat pocket and immersed his right index finger in ink and began to draw a map of 'Bald Philippine'. After he concluded, he folded cloth into 372. It began to grow longer and turned into a Magic carpet. It carried them to the Bald Philippine place. Mittu was non-stopping asking Mr. Riddles that what happened to Jack? Mr. Riddles said that Jack's health was in deteriorating condition. At once, the place was covered by murky and Mittu was yelling in the fright. The hair of Mr. Riddles luminosities as tritium and produced light as the vivid sun. The magic carpet was disappeared. They landed at the terra firma of Bald Philippine.

The door was too long since no one had unlocked the door for a past sum of six and five; one more than ten. Mittu endeavor to open but Mr. Riddles ceased him. The door with the lavish sandalwoods of two diverse the right door was made up of the santalum album and the other with santalum spicatum.

There was a notice stuck at the crown of the door. He told the parrot to bring the notice. It started to flutter; after an hour, it saw down even it doesn't intersect the half of the door. It became too worn-out, so it fell down. Mr. Riddles spell conjuration to raise his hair. The hair went towards the notice and extracted it. "If you want to unlock the door, you are wanted to enter a logo."

They were perplexed at opening the door; they struggled and did lot of attempts to unlatch the door. Mr. Riddles tried out ample of strategy but all the strategies were failed. Mr. Riddles put on to the rock and thinking the way to enter into the door. He felt the rock was jiggling in which he was seated. He stood up and pressed the rock. The door was altered into a circle door. It's a clock door but without the hour and minute hand. An eagle stone sculpture in the kernel of the clock door, eyes were filled with the radiant Blue. Mr. Riddles searched the library by his magic and it was all by incantation only. He got a solution from the ancient book 'Underground.'

The flattish horny part on the upper surface on the tip of each finger became too sharp and protracted. He cut the sandalwood from the door and carved it as a quill pen. Then he drenched the quill pen into the radiant blue ink on the eye of eagle sculpture on the left side of the door. Mr. Riddles drew the scar which he saw in Jack's foot on the eagle's head. It glint on its head an hour and minute hand appeared at 10:10 PM. At once the door opened and they entered into the door. As they entered into the clock door the breeze stopped, fluttering birds statue, waves on the ocean stopped and the earth stopped spinning.

It was a big athenaeum and that athenaeum contained two-segment pictorial and books. All the magic's were stopped working at this athenaeum. There were many sculptures under each bookcase. All the sculptures were dissimilar. Mittu patted on the head of dragon sculpture which was under the bookcase of 8:12:295. It started roaring and abruptly, a magic quill pen appeared. He took the quill pen and entered the scar on its head. It gleamed. The sculpture got a life and became a real dragon and it carried Mr. Riddles and Mittu was on his shoulder. It nimbled towards the plafond in athenaeum. When Mr. Riddles said, "Stop". It stopped, which was a department of arts and paintings. He instructed the dragon to move towards his finger, pointed direction. That place was covered by old dated paintings. That department was occupied up the egg tempera paintings, fresco-secco painting and acrylic painting.

They were dumbstruck by the all paintings. All the august paintings were a tremendous masterpieces. They finished visit with serene. He ordered the dragon to go to the ground floor. Mr. Riddles had been tempted to get the book so, he hastened towards searching that book. The alluring, charming athenaeum made them forgot their problems with their beauty. Now they expenditure on getting that book. They were searching the book in every nook and cranny of the library. Eventually, Mittu found a book with the coverage of peanut color and some of the pages fed to the termites. Mittu told the dragon to move towards the 100:3:4 bookcase which was the section of “solution for venom”. The bookcase was twice the size of the sandal doors.

The dragon flew nimblest towards that number. When Mr. Riddles touched the old book, "I am death", said the book. When Mr. Riddles nudged the book by his fingers, it changed into an older man with the face of human on its coverage. The white beard was grown on the tail-bottom and text block of the book. When Mr. Riddles attempted to open the book before you could say knife, a hand of Book man with agile took the book, the eyes of them were budged towards the direction of the old book. They enjoined the dragon to follow the Book man's hand. The hand was from the art and painting department. The hand evaporated completely. They stopped the dragon. There was a Book man painting, which was in front of them. There were million and trillion of a concealed secrets on every paintings in the department. When Mr. Riddles touched the Book man painting, they entered into another new department.

The place was Jam-packed with the dark. Abruptly, light from candle someone was ignited the candle. When they got closer, it was a Book Man. The room was filled with the candle light. At this moment, the mien of Book Man was very pellucid. His whole body was made from the books. He greeted them. The Book Man was on the secretary's desk and searching for something on that old book by his monocle. The Book Man said, "That was the only book which contained the solution for Jack's problem was "Nerium oleander".

They came out from the place and ordered the dragon to fly towards the ground floor. They dropped out from the dragon. Mr. Riddles moved to the 100:1:100 bookcase, which was the case of that athenaeum. He saw many sculptures of birds and also saw something gleaming in plafond. His edict, the dragon to move towards the gleaming on plafond. The dragon moved swiftly to the plafond. The plafond replete with alluring paintings and motifs. Some paintings were concealed by gleaming rays when they moved towards the gleaming object Mr. Riddles spotted that it was a fragmented diamond.

When Mr. Riddles patted on the stone, it just shifted to the ground. He ordered the dragon to move towards the gleaming object from up to down but the stone shifted like prior when they reached down. Whenever Mr. Riddles attempted to touch the fragmented diamond, it was shifting as past. He ordered the dragon to move to the pivot of the ground floor.

He quietly observed throughout the place. He perceived the sculptures on the stone, all were unrelated in size and appearance. He passed to the S: 3:24 eagle. It was very big as it appears to be very young.

Its body was black but with white head and tail. He was headway towards the eagle. The eagle had a quill pen and held a book on other wings. Something had been put down on the whiteboard, which was clings on the ground. It was written in the Egyptian language. So, he couldn't understand the notes. He moved to the S:6:5 Bird-of-paradise it held a zooming lens on its left wings. He entered the scar with the magic quill pen on its head. It became alive. He ordered to move near the whiteboard of S:3:24. The lens became sizeable with an alarming beep sound. The sound just stopped and the lens went to its normal size.

The Bird-of-paradise told, "S:3:24 of Bald Philippine was for the utilization for writing an outdated book to new book, rewriting an old book and for writing a new book". Mr. Riddles saw hundreds of sculptures with notes but one bird was not accompanied by notes in the whiteboard; he hurried towards the phoenix bird it was too massive. He entered the scar on its head by magic quill. It became alive. Phoenix had a diadem on its head. Mr. Riddles couldn't got phoenix back. The phoenix unfurled its wings towards Mr. Riddles. The feather built a step-by-step for the ahead steps feet and he sat on its back as usual Mittu sat on his shoulder of Mr. Riddles without getting any orders the phoenix few towards the diamond. The stone shifted to the ground as previously. The phoenix took a turn and hightailed down towards the diamond. But this time, shifting was stopped. There were four mirrors encircled the diamond. He ordered the phoenix to move towards the diamond. The diamonds were scintillating with well-cut. This precious fragmented diamond possession by 'Radiant Vant' Royal family of Underground. Now he ordered the phoenix to move towards the mirrors. He went much closer to the mirror. The first mirror manifested the big tree and Main city; the second mirror manifested the fragmented diamond; he just kindred with Jack's fragmented stone; the third mirror manifested the 'Nerium Olender' Book, which was in the second drawer of the diamond pedestal. The last manifested the Underground palace and it showed a king's celestial room, ordering the soldiers to destroy Mittu and Jack.

Mittu was appalled. They both moved too close to the pedestal on which the royal diamond was kept. It had five drawers vertically in the pedestal. Mr. Riddles took a book from the small narrowed second drawer of pedestal.

They open the clock door to egress. They noticed the halt of earth spinning as they came out from the door the spinning began; birds fluttered; waves on the ocean and a strong breeze started their routine works. The magic carpet was waiting for them. They were seated on the carpet. Mr. Riddles said to hastily to go to Jack's room. After an hour, the carpet touched down the room. One hair from his beard grew longer and transformed into yellow. The yellow hair just read all pages of 'Nerium Oleander' book and the yellow hair went to its genesis.

Mr. Riddles spelled the incantation to turn the rose flower into Titan Arum, spadix which was a part on that flower. It was the medicine for Jack. Mittu shifted to the flower and took the tiniest bit of spadix from Titan Arum and gave to Jack. A few minutes were gone, a quiver on his body, half-eye opened and he noted the newfangled encompassing. He awoke and asked Mittu, "Where are we?" Mittu illuminated all about it. They both euphoric sense of relay and they thanked Mr. Riddles. Mr. Riddles was scatter brained at present about the future mirror revealed.

He told the Mittu to come along with him and told Jack to take a rest. They both were located behind the door in celestial room. They saw the king ordering the soldiers to dispatch them. Mr. Riddles make haste to the Jack's room, enclosed the door and he called the Jack. Simultaneously, there was a big thumping behind the door. Jack tried to open the door but Mr. Riddles stopped him. He called both of them and told him that the soldiers had been sent to dispatch him and Mittu. He said to him "So, you with your friend Mittu go to 'It's Me'." He gave them those pince-nez and with the mild muffle voice, he told Jack that he could call him whenever he will be in trouble and not to dither to call him. But the time was just 11:30 PM.

The soldiers were increasingly banging at the door. The door was on the edge of smashing. They saw the time. It was now 1:30 AM. Mr. Riddles told them to be buried underneath the bed. The hinges on right door were splintered out of the door. Unexpectedly, Mr. Riddles conjuration to make himself invisible. Jack and Mittu were buried beneath the bed. The soldiers were hunting for them. Mr. Riddles got out of the room and re-entered with a visible view. He endeavors to pause the time but one soldier saw something shaking beneath the bed. So, he moved towards the bed and also he saw something glistened under the bed. Jack was doing the process to go to It's Me. The soldier saw beneath by removing the bedding but it was just a shining floor reflected the light rays from the casement windows, they went to It's Me. After an hour of searching, the soldiers were disappointed, went

PHENICKS FENESTRIO

They both enrolled into It's Me. When Jack entered into It's Me something sprang to his mind. It was the king and queen painting, he ignored like past. Their faces lit up when they saw Little Prince. He came to them and all the things were prior to. He greeted them. Jack asked him to accompany him during the sightseeing around It's Me. He also acceded and took them to the 'Phenicks Fenestrio' which was explained on his antecedent visit.

They reached the 'Phenicks Fenestrio' they saw the two pillars carrying a name of school. This Gothic pillars were jam-packed with the gorgeous gemstones. Jack was astounded by the Gothic pillars because it was buoyant on the air. The school 'Phenicks Fenestrio' had five onion dome, which was red, blue, green, black and yellow. They entered into the school. There was a big royal table in that the book was kept on the worktop of the table. When they opened the book, there were only five pages red, green, blue and black and the last page had the collages of all four and it had charming rainbow coverage. There were five distinct colors of ink bottle with the quill pen, associated with the colors of pages in the book.

Little Prince told Jack to write his name on his beloved page. Jack took the fourth page. It was Green Woods and he wrote his name on that page with the appropriate color of the page. Suddenly Jack became smaller and having two dragonfly wings. He just commenced to fly. There was a big spiral appeared from the page. Little Prince told him to set foot on the spiral and also told Mittu to do the same. They whirled into the spiral and all they entered into the 'Green Woods'. All their fineries became green. There were flowers and trees throughout the place and they were colossal. Little Prince went inside the ovary of peony flower. They also followed him and they all entered into the ovary of the peony, the ovary handed down them to the stem.

All the tutees were flourished inside the stem. It was a place for manufacturing the perfumes from shrubs. It's a section of making perfumes, they emerged out from the peony. Every stem had doors and windows Little Prince told them to follow him. He went to a brobdingnagian red attenboroughii pitcher plant, instantaneously all door and windows had been opened from all flowers and also the tutees came out from the flowers. All the tutees were bustled and they all vanished somewhere. Little Prince said that all the flowers would go to sleep at 6:00 PM. Mittu asked where they vanished. Little Prince told them to look up.

There were many bumblebee bubbles. It was all pellucid bubbles with rainbow shades and there were verdant beds inside it. All they were the chamber of tutees and workers. At once, the place covered by ebony petals were auto closed and all the flowers were assembled into buds. The place was engulfed by insects all the tutees and workers started to bloom their voice "up, up" All the insects got together in a line and produce a light, fireflies produce a light, bees started music, air making the tree dancing. All they had a Whale of a time in the 'Knight Flyter' party. I was an extravagant party.

They now entered into pitcher plant, they glimpsed because a white light dropped on them all they gazed up. It was moon light. The moon just affixed on the peristome in pitcher plant. Little Prince told it's a way to go to 'Rainbow stade', it was a mammoth amphitheater. They contested the game once in six years between two teams. They all entered into the tendril of pitcher it let them to the Rainbow stade. Today it was a game between Green Woods and blue moons. But the great astonish was Jack and Little Prince were participated on behalf of Green Woods. All the teams had mustered up in the amphitheater in Rainbow stade. The amphitheater was filled up with the colorful and delighted voice.

JUTS DAZZLER

Game: In each team, there should be seven players. These fourteen players have to get kinsfoke with a lion's body, the sting of a scorpion and with the bellicose wings and having sun logo on its forehead. There were only five kinsfoke. Other five of finsfoke with the body of Black Panther, the sting of a scorpion and with the bellicose wings and having moon logo on its forehead. Out of fourteen only ten-player would get fokes to ride and other four-player who didn't get their fokes they would be eliminated from the game, Juts Dazzler. First: These kinsfoke and finsfoke have a single globule of venom on its sting as well as each player in the team had sealed (emblem) of their team on a clayey surface. As the players enter the amphitheater, the kinsfoke and finsfoke were freed up from the cage. The players should get a sting on the seal. Every seal had their team logo on a clayey surface. The venom should inject into their sealed; it became dazzle on their team color. As the sealed dazzle, then the bellicose beast came into the player's control.

Then the sealed was automatically attached to their chest and it would work as a dazzle intercept and bulwark shield for the players. If the clayey seal shield break, then the dazzle offed, and they would be eliminated. As the venom injected into the sealed the logo of sun and moon on the forehead of kinsfoke and Finsfoke would be luminosity. After bringing them to the control, the players wanted to ride off on the Fokes.

Second: After bringing the beast to control, the players should fly to 'Finner Forest' in It's Me, which was in the north of It's Me. There was a finner Tower on the core of Finner Forest. The player's destination was at the crown of the tower. There was an incantation around the tower. The player wanted to reach the crown of the tower. As the players started to fly to the top, the sorcery started doing their work. The tower was too loftiest as it wrap the whole It's Me city. There was a three sorcery stage on the Finner tower.

The first stage could easily be crossed by all the players and scurried to the middle of the tower. Middle-stage, there would be further snowballs fell on the middle stage of the tower. If the snowball fell on the players, they would be frozen for ten minutes. So, the players should be heedful because if the snowball with blue fire fell on them, it would be late to their destination and might be a lost on the game 'Juts dazzler'.

After the great wrestle, the players wanted to move to the final stage.

In the final stage, there would be a fell of colossal and aggressive fire ball fell. If it fell on the players, they would be brought down to the tower. The players want to overcome the final stage and move to the crown of the Tower.

Third: For the players who reached the tower's crown, there would be a vacant white flag. The player wants to remove their bulwark shield and want to trace their emblem on the vacant flag. A player who sealed the trace was proclaimed as the winner.

Rules: The sealed should not break while injecting; out of fourteen, only ten players could participate depend upon the speed of injecting the venom on the seal; after they controlled, they wanted to ride on the beast. Once they ride, they should not get out of it; only they should get out of it when they reached the crown of the tower.

Seal (shield) And Rings Of Blue Moon And Green Woods

The amphitheater was thronged with the people of It's Me. As the Juts dazzlers kick off with tingling excitement, Jack and Little Prince were participated on behalf of Green Woods and get their ring with green crystal which had the power of controlling trees and plants. Juts dazzlers had commenced between Green Woods versus Blue Moon. All the fourteen players got their sealed emblem of their team.

The Kinsfoke and Finsfoke were emancipated from the cage. A belligerent beasts roared as they means to express they were hefty, and no one could control them. All these fourteen players were endeavored to inject the venom on the seal. Jack was endeavored to get venom on his seal but a girl from Blue Moon was competed with him for the foke to inject the venom but her endeavor on injecting venom in Kinsfoke was successful.

There was a great competition for getting their fokes. So, Jack went to Finsfoke, a full-hearted attempt with ardor on the goal of winning. A full-hearted attempt gifted him a Finsfoke, the body of a black panther, the sting of a scorpion and with the bellicose wings and the moon logo gleamed after it came into the control. A smart Little Prince used his power of controlling plants and trees. He saw a small creeper on the ground. He used his green crystal ring powers to control the creeper and changed the small creeper as a prolonged strong rope. He tied its mouth and sting. He pulled the sting towards the sealed was success and injected the venom. He got control of Kinsfoke.

A great aghast for Green Woods because three players from Green Woods didn't get the fokes and one player from Blue Moon didn't got foke and another girl from Blue Moon was also eliminated because her seal was broken, which was contemplated for Green Woods. So, one player from Green Woods lay hold of Finsfoke. So, it was coequal.

As all the players move to the Finner Forest, a boy from 'Red woods' came and put out the fire on amphitheater. The fire showed the players playing the game. Jack with Finsfoke, Little Prince with Kinsfoke and all the players started to move to Finner Tower on Finner Forest. All the players easily crossed the first level of the tower. Then they move towards the second level of the Finner Tower. All the players struggled at the second level of the tower.

Blue Moon girl collided with the Little Prince hardly. So, the snowball was very close to bump him but Jack nimble to Little Prince and rescued him from the snowball, but unfortunately, Jack clashed by the snowball and froze. Little Prince tried to move towards him but the snowball commenced to drop more so he flies with the goal of achieving in the game with a lot of stabs by the stone spikes on the tower. He moved to the third part of the tower, he successfully intersected the third part and moved to the crown of the tower.

There he saw a player from Blue Moon going to trace the logo on the vacant white flag. His heart was shattered on the movement. Out of the blue, quivered a Finsfoke of a girl lost its control because she removed the bulwark shield from her chest. So, again it became a belligerent Foke. It pushed her away from the crown of the tower and the Finsfoke flew away from the Finner tower.

Little Prince thought it was a very hard task than he predicted. So, he flew far away from the tower. Then he ordered the foke to go to 'Phenicks Fenestrio," but he alone went away from its body, sunder from it. Then he again started to fly towards the crown of the tower. He reached the high spot of the tower. He saw a vacant white flag and he removed the bulwark shield from his chest. So it automatically transformed into sealed with their team logo. In an femtosecond, the glimmer on sun logo flicked out and the foke turned towards Little Prince.

Jack was released out from the freeze from snowball. Successfully, Little Prince traced their team logo on the white vacant flag, out of the blue, he saw a prodigious silhouette fell on him. He turned ahead of silhouette, he felt the impending danger on its scowled look and face expression. It was his Kinsfoke standing with the notion of killing him. Another roar, it was Jack with Finsfoke. He told the Little Prince to get into his Foke.

Now it was Jack, Little Prince and with Finsfoke and other side, it was a single beast, Kinsfoke. A roaring of two beasts terribly at simultaneous, a roar warned each other as its sign of beginning the great battle. It was a battle between Kinsfoke and Finsfoke. The battle began with the tight eyebrows and sharp looks on eyes as a bellicose beast. A few moments later, the Finsfoke became very feeble. So, Jack and Little Prince also engaged their attempt on the battle with the Finsfoke. It was a lesson to the audience on amphitheater with the moral of "Teamwork is the best work".

The next morning it was 6:00 AM. The sunshine entered into the rainbow-colored bubbles and transmuted into green color, the petal in the flowers bloomed up with the sparkle lights. The glorious sun dispensed the sunshine to all the place to disturb them from their profound slumber. All the Green Woods tutees and workers got ready for their obligation and some went to take a bath. There was a behemoth dahlia flower, and there was a hefty water spraying from the disc florets of dahlia seemed to be a shower. There were many little allium and hydrangea flowers on the ground. When Mittu plucked a small allium, it started watering. Mittu used as a hand shower, there was a big tree near the dahlia flower. Little Prince plucked a leaf from the tree and played with that by making the appearances of Mittu and Jack in the spume produced in the leaf. Then he made a sculpture of them in spume. They were passed some time with playing on that.

Green Woods triumphed over the Blue Moons in game it's all because of Jack and Little Prince. So, the leader of Green Woods recompenses three dockets to meet 'Walter Mitty', Little Prince was too exhilarated. Jack asked who was Walter Mitty? Little Prince said that he was a sorcerer and he brings us to new world with his music, and there we got answer to our intricate and unknown questions.

Little Prince told them to get their big bees to visit the place and also he told them to yield his bee. All they reached the cavern of Walter Mitty.

There was a big cavern when they entered into the cave. The log instinctive lights up for their every step. There was an older man with Rapunzel beard sat on the stone. He wore a musical symbol dress with the background of black. He called them and said to slumber on the fleecy bed. He bind his beard hair to the left nails, which seemed to be a harp. Then he started to play music, the music brought them to the 'Music land'. All they now entered into the land.

Mittu; he saw a tortoise and a gleaming red heart.

Jack; he saw an old painting of king and queen with the fabulous crown on the head of king with the treasure gemstones.

Little Prince; he saw he was in a snazzy silk dress and sat on the congregation of the palace.

It's the Main city and they were dizzied at seeing the place. It was not by its beauty but by the order that assemble in that place. All edifice and building were moving here and there with the swiftness. Little Prince told Mittu to infiltrate into this world by flutter its wings. He just flew some meters above. Immediately a crack sounds on the ground. A creeper plant from the ground stretched towards Mittu, tied up its leg and brought him back to the ground. Jack harked back to the pince-nez given to him by Mr.Riddles. He just took the glasses and shared it with his friends. All they wore magical glasses.

All the buildings and edifice were dissipated but a single building alone touch down the ground. Little Princess prodded the building it mutated into small dice. It's a dice with its four cited names. They were Tanvas vembster, Omicrown, Zodiac Aster and Lambersdown and other two sides the Time Boat with the parachute and another one side was empty. Jack told the Little Prince to roll the dice. He rolled the dice and the came out roll was Tanvas vembster, a bright light manifested from the dice. They closed their eyes because of the exceeding shine. The light set back into the dice with Little Prince.

Mittu rolled the dice and the came out roll was an empty side. A spiral appeared in the dice. He was dragged into the spiral. Now it was the turn of Jack. He rolled the dice and the came out roll was a Time Boat with parachute. The dice was faded away and there was a big map that occurred on the ground. He stepped on the map. In a Trice the place on the map became virtual. He took another step he saw around, it was the Time Boat with parachute. He went towards the edge of the time Boat, he saw down. He was flying loftier. He went towards the steering of marine wheel in Time Boat but there was not steering wheel in lieu of there was a ruby book with opened soft pages. It was engulfed in beauty, ruby book.

Ruby book which was opened book and he just turned up the next page. At once, the Time Boat veered 37 degrees east of north. It was a page with the title 'Lambersdown.' He just closed the book. It was in red coverage and he was chaotic and dumbfounded by its mien because it had an eyes and mouth on its coverage. Book with the face speak to Jack; that "we were on the move towards Lamberdown". He was more flabbergasted and asked a book, 'could you speak'. The book replied in this city every object had the potentiality to speak. Jack asked the book, 'Did you know the location of Little Prince' and it said "Let me ask southwest at 225 degrees map", and the book turned into 260th page. He asked the map, 'Where were the Little Prince and Mittu?' the map Spectacle the Tanvas vembster and told "It was the location of Little Prince".

The book asked Jack that 'Shall I switch to Tanvas vembster?'. Jack said, "Yes, but where was Mittu?". The book said 'He was not on record of my history map.

They reached the Tanvas vembster it was a palace with a configuration of a girl, circumjacent by water. There was a lot of houses gathered in the form of dress. The girl was made up of rock. The Time Boat with parachute had entered into the foyer of Tanvas vembster. Time Boat said to Jack, "At any occasion you could call me by telling 'Hope; Hope; you help me it's Tanvas vembster'", after said these words to Jack the Time Boat evaporated on the air with dazzled glisten.

He enrolled into the foyer of Tanvas vembster. Someone call him from beyond of him. He turned behind he saw a purple grasshopper purveyed him drinks. Grasshopper said that 'Jack, pick your desired savor drink'. Jack was startled and asked how you would know my name. Grasshopper eliminates his disguise. He was a smart boy Little Prince. They cuddled each other and Little Prince asked where was Mittu. Jack told to him that "I asked to Ruby book on the Time Boat it said you were at Tanvas vembster, then I asked Mittu where about it said he was not in recorded on its history map.

Suddenly 'ding, ding' they all run towards the bell of holly. An immense tree was ringing the bell by joggling the clapper. All mustered up. The people in Tanvas vembster used to ring few and far between or to convey a vital news. Its motive of rang was to convey an important message. They all asked the tree about the motive of ringing the bell of holly. The tree told that Mattress floor only told me to ring the bell. They all asked the Mattress floor. The floor grinned in a scornful way and it stretched and waved its body, where Jack was standing. He fell because of such an action by Mattress floor she told "All of us to look royal symbol on his arch of the foot". They all elated.

Tukcluck, minister of Tanvas vembster, summoned the Pegasus to arrive in Tanvas vembster. A Pegasus came, she was a winged divine horse with pure white. He told the Pegasus "Takeout this summons to the Royal Palace". Typically glad tidings was summoned through the Pegasus.

They brought him to the palace of Tanvas vembster. It was at the diadem of the stone girl. The palace was clustered in the form of a diadem on the head of the stone girl. The minister and the peoples of Tanvas vembster treated him very well in the extravagant palace. They arrayed a night party and Tukcluck the minister of Tanvas Vembster invited a high generals from Omicrown, zodiac Aster, Lambersdown, and elite generals from Royal Palace.

The Minister of Tanvas vembster invited a Pre-eminent chief; Mr. Bowls, virtuoso (Music) doyen; w dot drummer stick and for bliss and merriments Miss.Googli was invited. This was a magnificent celebration with funs.

"Palace was filled up with the dazzled colors,
Heart was filled up with the hilarity,
Dinner Table was filled up with the delicious appetizing food,

Stomach was filled up with the stock of foods,
Mind was filled up with the mind-blown music"

Eyes were clung at the dance; the workers were bustled in the air. At the end of the party nature was apprehended for an illegal drawing of the palace on the water; why? It was till baffled question. They too enjoyed it but the only thing they missed was Mittu. The sound of a parrot disturbed him and he suddenly woke up and called Mittu but that was the sound of the alarm clock this morning began with the feeling of absence of his soul mate. He awoke the Little Prince, who was sleeping close by him.

They both went to meet the minister Tukcluck because to found Mittu. Minister Tukcluck took them to a room it was wholly dark. There was a small hole on the pivot of the plafond. The light elapsed into the water, which was kept on the big cauldron. It was kept at the pivot of room which was straight towards the hole at the top and there was a sign on of Aquarius on the cauldron. They stand circumjacent the cauldron. It showed an entrance of the Main city where they rolled the dice. Tukcluck asked the cauldron 'Where was Mittu'?" The cauldron speaks "He rolled the dice and the came out roll was empty so that he sent back to the Phenicks Fenestrio."

Afresh, Pegasus came from the doorway of the room. It approached Tukcluck. He saw a chocker on its neck, angel wings with heart locket attached with choker. He opened the locket.

He saw a royal scroll in which "Royal palace, invited Jack and his friend Little Prince to arrive in Palace" with charmed calligraphy. Tukcluck asked that 'Shall I arrange a vehicle for you to go to Royal palace' Jack replay no, I have Time Boat. He spelled the conjuration magic that was "Hope; Hope; you help me it's Tanvas vembster". Suddenly the Time Boat came from the hole of the plafond. They got into the Boat and it brought them to the hub on the Rhombus map, which was a Royal Palace. On the way to Royal Palace, they saw a whole places in the Main city as these much pinnacle they were flew in the Time Boat with parachute. Unforeseen, a sprinkles of water it was from altocumulus clouds. They moved to the left gunwale of the flying Boat. There were some telescopes attached with the Boat. They looked onto that, they saw many people with outer distinct outer look but alike true hearts and same with love.

ROYAL PALACE

The Royal Palace was horde up by the people of the Main city. They set foot in the Royal Palace, all their eyes lifted to him and the ministers of four groups greeted him with a loud cheer. But he didn't know that all people from discrete groups were convoked for him to inaugurate as a more potentate in the Main city.

He became Prince but not enthroned due to the age capability. After he came to power, he asked a high general of Royal Palace "could I invite my friend, Mittu here?"

An upper body of human and the bottom with the legs of a horse. Dalis, a minister of zodiac Aster. He was accorded for him to expound about the Main city. The Minister of the Royal Palace told that he would assist you for every matter, you ask him to invite your friend here. He asked Dalis to bring his friend Mittu to the Royal Palace. Dalis ordered a sub minister in zodiac Aster; Aquarius to bring his friend Mittu here. She split the water into drops by conjuration. The water drops formed in the oval shape. It was a magical marine oval screen and it showed a Mittu in Greenwoods on Phenicks Fenestrio. It was seated at the lunch table. Aquarius with the waterfall in the place of hair and wore water as a gown.

She sent a tiny cylinder water drop map into the marine screen. The map felt at the lunch table; Mittu was amazed at its formation. He just touched it and it automatically opened.

"Welcome, Mittu to the Main city" by Critil Jack and little Prince had written in a dark blue with the water back screen. He guessed at the way the map reached him. He couldn't believe it, he contemplated that was his imagination. He again opened the cylinder map and read the sentence word by word. The words had dissipated after he read and a big Boat on the sea appeared in the map. A force in the map made him got inside the Boat in the map. The map was emerged out of the oval marine screen and the map moved towards her in a horizontal. She just made a cyclone into the water. The Boat in the map, where Mittu was inside. It bawled in the macabre because the Boat was moved towards the cyclone. A spiral helix appeared in the plafond above them. The map showed Mittu, got into the cyclone but he plunged out of the spiral helix. Little Prince scurried towards the spiral and Mittu was plunged from plafond but Little Prince caught him.

They both were beamed for the present of Mittu. Jack said, "Thank you! Aquarius." Dalis ordered her to leave out of here. She just vanished into the water. Little Prince told Mittu i.e., Jack became more potentate in Main city. Mittu was elated and embraced them.

Jack asked Dalis with befuddled, "Why did you designat me as your price? Dalis said that once in twenty-six years, they had an ideology of asking any one question to "crystal ball" which was at the top of the dome in the Royal Palace. They had been cursed that they had to forget about the king and queen. Mysteriously, they had vanished at one night with them the employees, the ministers and also some people had also vanished on that night. Never a one knows, what took place on that night. Curse made them to forget the face of queen, king, and also the Omicrish, he was the father to Omicrown. After the curse his generation had a filled carapace and became blind after that night".

After the curse, the kingdom was tolerated by the battles, it was between the four cities to vanquish the Royal Palace. After some years passed, it was the twenty- sixth year, which was after the eleventh year of the curse and that time was came to ask a question to crystal ball. "All the people mustered up together but excluding Omicrown. The minister of Royal Palace asked the crystal ball. "Who would be got us rid out from the curse?" The ball manifested the Royal symbol and told "A boy with this symbol would make the city clear from the curse and also he would be your king". All the people in the Main city were anticipated for the boy with the royal symbol.

Dalis wanted, Jack to know about the Main city. So, he commenced with the Royal Palace. They went to the fifth apartment. In which 'six doors' were there. The six doors were in dissimilar colors and were carved with wood and metal statues in distinguish forms. The ruby and gloomy doors were belonged to Royal palace, topaz door was belonged to Tanvas vembster, Amethyst door was belonged to Lambersdown, emerald door was belonged to Omicrown and the sapphire door was belonged to zodiac Aster.

Each door had their color stone at the center-left. They first went into the Amethyst door which was belonged to Lambersdown. Dalis, manifested his amethyst diamond ring towards the amethyst diamond fixed at the door. A small beam of light from his ring passed into the diamond affixed at the door. The light again passed from the door to his amethyst ring. Now the light was bright and beamed in the door. The amethyst stone on the door glinted and dazzled. There was a small logo of fire at the midpoint of the amethyst diamond at the door.

Dalis just pressed the logo in the stone. A snake sculpture in the top rail of the door scrolled towards the diamond and it scrolled around the stone. The door was opened when the snake bit and passed its venom into the stone, with a small creak sound, it opened. They entered into it. There was a Rhombus map, which was cleaved into four and at the pivot it was a Royal Palace. Tanvas vembster was at North, Lambersdown was at east, Omicrown was at south and Zodiac Aster was at west.

In this door, it was all recorded about the four groups and their ministers. Jack saw incredibly sizeable book with the gold coverage and names of groups that were written underneath the Royal Palace. The teal colored calligraphy on the golden coverage was mesmerized the readers to open a book.

Jack asked about this book to Dalis. He said that major celebration and fair were documented on this 'saffron book.' Jack asked "Shall I open this book"? Dalis said, "Yes, you could." He also asked, "Was there any paintings of queen and king in this book?" Dalis responded that the old saffron book was vanished due to the curse and this was a current history saffron book of the Main city.

He opened a book, on the seventeenth page. He saw indices in which there was only twenty – six celebration were recorded. He picked out the fifteenth point, a commemorated "Answer of a crystal ball," which was 350th page. He took the page there he saw a crystal ball in the upper of the dome tower. Dalis touched the amethyst stone, which was affixed under the page number of the book. On the spur of the moment, they were inside the Bezel facet of the amethyst stone. They saw a crystal ball which was on the top of the dome. They saw, "All the people mustered up together but excluding Omicrown. The minister of Royal Palace asked to the crystal ball. "Who would be got us rid out from the curse?" They saw live celebration and after it got over, automatically they brought out of the stone.

After emerged out of the door, the amethyst door shut instinctively. Dails moved towards the Ruby door, which belonged to the Royal Palace. Jack was gazing at the doors, all the doors were queued up from the ruby door to the emerald door but he observed that the black door was isolated from those doors. In the upmost of the black door, it had been written 'Gloomy door.' The door was filled up with the badly things of gothic sculpture.

Jack asked the Dalis to open the gloomy door, but he hesitated to open. Mittu and Little Prince were ceaselessly asked the Dalis to open a door. Jack and his friends looked eagerly at the way of how he opened the door. Dalis moved towards the door and started sang the woeful of the Main city. The song was all concerned, 'How the people agonize without their king and queen'. The slaves worked at the night vanished; it was all about their family, the hardship of the economy have been covered the city and the hostility conflict. It looked decade for them to overcome'. He concluded the gloomy song of the Main city. Now the exhilaration had been turned into affliction. An emperor Scorio in the top rail of the door moved towards the white diamond fixed at the center-left of the gloomy door; an emperor scorpion bit the core of the diamond, a venom from stinger passed into a diamond white venom revolting a diamond into a black.

The door opened after the venom passed into the diamond. They set foot in the room. There they saw a fuzzy and marred Painting of a couple. But the crown of the king was alone comprehensible. Jack was shocked by the crown because whenever he used to enter into the It's me, a painting would cross his mind but he didn't take that as significant because he was so delighted at the opening of a door. So amazed to find that the crown in the painting was the same crown that he saw on music land as well as in his mind while entering into It's Me. With an appalled voice he asked to Dails, who was that in the painting? He replied this was the only painting of king and queen but the painting was spoiled. He was so astounded but he didn't reveal his suspicions. They came to their master bedroom after visiting the doors.

He was still stuck in the contemplative about the painting. Mittu and Little Prince were Jollyfication with the opulence. They saw Critil Jack was fretting about something. Mittu asked, "What are you fretting about?". He expounded all about the crown that crown in a painting was the same which crown which he saw on his Music Land as well as on his mind while entered into It's Me. He told that he wanted to know about the curse unexpectedly an archaic voice; it's an antique chalice. It said that "If you want to know about the curse, you want to see a minister of Omicrown. He knew a bijou information about the curse but many of them were felt it's a hearsay. If you want, you could ask him"

It was night, Jack and his friends slept in the Royal bed but jack was contemplating the minister Omicrown. The contemplating made him slumbered. The place was dominated by the beat sounds after an hour later, domination was now vanquished by the lights. They tried to wake up. But, the Royal bed was not allowed any one to wake up. It's all by its sweetness of a bed and it against the hardness of light rays. The defeated bed sweetness was making them woke up.

Jack said, "Hope", Hope it's 'Tanvas Vembster.' Suddenly the Time Boat seemed through the window. They all got into the flying Time Boat. Jack told the book to go to Omicrown. The page turned into 201143, which was the map of Omicrown. They reached Omicrown city. There was a Jumbo tortoise with fungus on its nails. A big castle was affixed on its burly carapace. But there was no head and limbs on its body; only there was a carapace on its body.

Jack called Omicrown, a quiver it retracted its head and limbs out of its carapace and said welcome Majesty. The tortoise was very old and it wore a bifocals. Jack asked him about the curse. The tortoise ruminated and told him back when tigers used to smoke; there was a good friendship between the wizard and the king of the Main city. Erstwhile, the wizards got lofty integrity and they were supposed to be the most powerful person in the city after the king. They were the main person who safeguard the country from evils, penury and the rivals by their good powers.

One century later, their friendship touched the acme as their true homage they bestowed a Tit-Tree which would help them from all the messes and it is the divine speaking tree. A century later, an old wizard whose thinking was changed into negative. He thought of conquering a kingdom and also, he thought that they were only saving the kingdom and the people from all the catastrophe, then why don't we ascendancy of the kingdom.

He had covet to conquer the city, but his son was too candor towards the king. The grandson of him was fully fledged by hearing his bad notion of conquering the entire city. But, the king slaughtered the old wizard son. So, the old wizard cursed the kingdom. Jack asked "Why did the king slaughter the old wizard?" "It was still enigmatic", said tortoise and told him that still there was a Tit-Tree which was presented by the wizards, it was in the center of a north-west forest.

Encompassed by the water but the Tit-Tree would alone with divine magic powers on the forest. People were afraid to get into the forest because many went to the forest to know what occurred at the night, with the hope of getting answer but they people hadn't returned yet. The Tit-Tree ceases its response after the curse. It was arduous to found the tree in the mid of the forest. It went to deep sleep. You could try Jack but it's surreal said Tortoise and went into its shell. Jack and his friends got into the awaited Aircraft. He ordered the Time Boat to move towards the center of the North-West. The page turned into eight.

TIT – TREE

Every space had a glamorous spot, especially in the Main city. In main city, the thrilling forest. However, only the center part of the forest was alone green. People were petrified to get into the forest because there were many speaking tree and moving mountain. Many people hadn't returned yet. So, people thought it was all because of these trees and mountain. While walking into the thrill forest, they had to cross many menacing. Magic would never work out here. This forest were surrounded by evils and bad vibes. They could only went by walk alone. Aircrafts and vehicles couldn't enter into the forest. If they entered into it with the machines and vehicles, it would become powerless.

In the center of the forest, there was a shield which protects them from evils, after reached the center the shield started to protect them. There was a special opening between the trees, almost as though they were inviting them to go into this magical center spot.

When they stepped through the trees, all they could saw was a bright green. The whole ground was covered with the grass which was long and bright green. It would be like a freshness given to their eyes. There was an antique machinery for good water flowing; wooden waterwheel but it was not covered by the moss. There was a beautiful cave. Then the huge statue of "Mother nature" caught the attention. When they went inside a cave there they saw one big tree with thick leaves, many fireflies were roaming around the trees and there were radiant grass that radiated in blue, circumambient the tree.

Then they started to notice the light. It filtered through the outstretching tree branches in the Tit tree. The light gave everything a constantly moving effect, as though nothing was ever stood still while looking at that light, then they noticed that the branches over-head of the tree were very close together and were seemed to be woven together almost like fabric. The branches from huge beauty over the top of the magical Tit tree.

After noticed the branches, they began to see around the cave. They heard the sound of the forest. First, in the silence, they heard the wind whispering through the trees. This was also when they noticed the slight freeze on their cheeks. The leaves rusted against each other, created a calmed sound. Then, they began to hear the sounds in the background. They could hear the water floating sound. Jack patted the Tit-Tree trunk. A miracle, it opened its eyes, it woke up from its deep slumber; said "Welcome Critil Jack, I am waiting for you for years". Jack was thunderbolt, his eyes lit up with delirious and his face became suffused with a sudden glow of gleeful and asked him, "How did you know my name?" The magical Tit-Tree replied, "I know the whole shooting match about you, Jack". Then Jack asked him about the curse.

A tree told that once upon a time, there was a good friendship between the ascendancy of the kingdom. It was pomp at the palace that was the enjoyment of twenty-sixth birthday to the King, Muubin Leonet Henry. A whole palace was charged with contentment. An old wizard got into the congregation of the palace and got acquiescence to go to 'Wizard Jamboree.' He was invited as an honored chief guest. This was an exhibit for granting the pre-eminent wizard. The king was so delighted so; he sent off him with the precious stone, money and with foods.

Some days passed. It was night. His wife was tolerated by the pain. All doctors from divergent wives were called for treatment but nugatory. The kingdom was in a state of bewilderment. At last, an older minister tortoise, whose name was Omicrish, having a free shell, had come to the king and said, " I saw an old wizard son, did conjuration by keeping a painting of the queen and the suffer of the queen must be arrived from him". But it was not cakewalk for the king to presume. So, the old minister tortoise who was Omicrish brought him to the casement of the old wizard son's room. It was accurate, which the old tortoise said. He was in vexation and attempted to slaughter him but Omicrish ceased him.

He gave conceptualization to the king that "We should penalize him in ahead of the people by doing this the people may get the fright of doing erroneous. So, we want to penalize him tomorrow in ahead of the people", and the tortoise gave him medicine for the queen, which he got it from Tit tree. The king accepted his conceptualization. He got the medicine from him and gave that medicinal drink to the queen. After she drunk the medicinal drink, she purged out of the pain. It was all by the celestial powers of the Tit tree.

It was a congregation; the king was awaited to start a congregation. As they all received their royal seats. King ordered the soldiers, immediately they should go towards the old wizard son, they hold and tied his hands at back. The son was bewildered because he was still at the searching of reason for the muddled action did by the soldiers. Abruptly, the king asked him, "Had you done incantation at yester night?" He replied, "Yes", endeavored to elucidate but wasted; the king was not at the position of perceiving his ideas. The king slaughtered him in ahead of the people. The old wizard grandson was very shocked and angry. He thought that his father was candor towards the king but the king, without right prove; he executed his father and also he thought that his grandfather was correct. He was angered about the king's implementation. He thought that it was an infringement to his father.

With anger, he took an instead vengeance, that was he tried to kill the king with the knife at his back but the defense minister was diligent, he tried a lot to stop him but he was at the great animosity. To save the king, there was no other option to defense minister. He cut off his legs. An old wizard returned to the congregation of the palace after the Wizard Jamboree and traumatize by the scene. His heart was wrecked after, heard the screeching sound of his grandson and blood smell of his son. His ear heard the screeching sound; nose the smell of blood; brain gathered this unmerciful movement; these all sensed by the heart. He was completely fragmented by that movement.

He asked the king, "What ensued?" with a low voice which showed the melancholy. The King told him that his son did an incantation against the kingdom yester night to kill a baby in the queen womb, which was a betrayal to this kingdom. He was tried to vanquish the kingdom and desired to make his son as a king but my righteousness, Minister Omicrish had revealed the truth about him at yester night and the lifeline of him was increased because of his grandson continuous screening sound and overwhelmed in the agony "I hadn't visited any wizard Jamboree. I was falsified. I was on a deep incantation to kill the baby in queen womb. But my son suspicious me from the very beginning".

So he met the Tit-Tree. The Tit told the veracity "I was at incantation to kill the baby in queen womb. So, my son strived to stop me because of the patriotic and stalwart towards the kingdom. So he had an incantation at yester night to interrupt my chant. I lost the battle but my son won the battle by saving the baby of yours. But you have killed him, misinterpreted." His heart pounded furiously and sank horribly into the yelling sound of his grandson and the cadaver of his son.

He cursed them "Whose eyes saw and whose ear heard the injustice, When the sun rays passed on the ground, you would be vanished and would became statue in the Effigy queen tower, king and the queen would be died without seeing his baby face.

Then the main element, Omicrish descent, should filled in the shell and also your dynasty would be blind because of their grandfather's mistake. All the modules in the Main city as well as It's Me would forget the faces of king and queen. They would thoroughly disappear from the hearts of the people and nobody knew the appearance of king and queen. What happened to the people in congregation at night? It would be always mystified".

He plucked the Ruby, heart-shaped, big powerful diamond from the throne which was ornament the throne. He fragmented the stone into two pieces. One part was vanished and other was sent to Effigy queen tower. The old wizard told to get rid out from the curse, it was only by your prince. He should attach the fragmented diamond into the ruby heart-shaped diamond. Wizard and his grandson were vanished from the palace.

The king and the queen were dejected and concerned. The king found culpable for the whole and thought that this could only cracked by the Tit tree. So, king called the Tit tree. After a second, it appeared in the congregation. The king asked, "Was there any solution to get rid out of the curse? Tit tree". The Tit tree said "But I could change the only one thing that was I could save the life of you and the queen, Majesty, but there should be a sacrifice of your faithful person. He should sacrifice on himself to save the life, and the sacrifice want to be more powerful, honesty and also there should be no anticipation for their sacrifice". Omicrish told the Tit tree, "It was all because of my misapprehension. So, I will sacrifice my life to save their life without any anticipation, but I want the king to pardon me for my blunder."

The king didn't want to lose a true-hearted friend, who were childhood friends and also they were best friends. He wanted his friend to be alive. But Omicrown killed himself. The king's tears rolled down from his eyes with the blameworthy.

The Tit tree had a wooden magic wand with an emerald crystal on its top and leaves in the ending of the magic wand. It waved its magic wand suddenly, a rainbow glittered on its way of wave. The heart of Omicrish emerged out of the body. The brightness of glitter would depend upon loyal and honesty. The glitter was more dazzled. It symbolized the true love of their friendship.

The congregation was immersed into a melted heart and some minutes, set in the pain. A few minutes later, all their heart awoke from the flittered heart and look into the noise, the noise diverted all from the heart and took into the yelling sound. It was a noise of queen all they set off in fear, trepidation and also hoping to get a prince. An hour later, a small sound making their heart to get pounded and it was blubbered. The king keenly asked the Tit tree. It articulated the silence. The king was shocked by its expression and went inside the room with dither. The king emerged out of the room; his eyes were throbbled with merry, goose bumps were welcomed by the dermis. He put a grin in ante of face, by charming rosy up. Royal physician brought the baby and handover the baby to the king.

He elevated his hand and raised his voice "Critic Jack", he nomenclature. A resonated from hands. The palace resonated with the contentment resonated. Generating air, which made the leaves jiggling, causes to spring. A swirled leaf touched the heart. It became more blazed and dazzle color. A spared leaf on Omicrish's heart was dissipated. A sound of a bird came out of the heart. The place was submerged by lights. Some glitter were spotted here and there which was a small red hearted light. Seemingly look, when looking on to the deep look. This scenery which healing their gloomy, role-played as a physician, astonished all of them. Some second wasted by looking at a mesmerizing look "Ke-Ke" a sound of parrot came out of the Omicrish hearts. All their eyes connected and roll towards the heart. A parrot which was the next incarnation of Omicrish. It was a green parrot with a ring-necked parakeet.

From birth, Jack had a prestigious royal symbol on your arch of the foot which was passed on from generation to generation, which symbolized the dynasty of the king and royalty. Tit tree called the king and queen and told them that it was a time to leave their Prince. The Tit tree waved its magic wand a carapace (shell) of Omicrish removed out from its body. Tit tree kept Jack and Mittu on the carapace. After that, the carapace vanished. It soared over the mountain and ocean. The carapace kept Jack and Mittu in the garden and dissipated.

"Then you start bawling in the hunger. A rich proprietress came out of the house on notifying the sound. She saw you in the garden. Her little girl died in an accident. She saw a letter close to you. She unfolded a letter in which there was not a

From and To address. There was only the body of letter, it was just one line "Take care your baby, Critil Jack". She thought this was a gift from god. She accepted you as her son with more enthusiasm. She took care as her real child and dispensed you true love. Mittu settled down in the oak tree in the garden, the tree was near to the window of Jack's room.

Its speech which could recognize by you alone. You both were very good friends. Some years elapsed. Unfortunately, while they travel, they died from lightning strike but fortunately, you were not at the travel. Then you were foster cared by your auntie because of the prosperity."

Jack asked, then what happened at the night. "After you went, the Royal palace wore the rays and sank into the golden. Then the people in the congregation vanished to Effigy queen tower with the hope of a new era and I was an alone returned from the palace and went into the deep slumber. Envisage about years for you."

Jack asked, then what was the way to rupture a curse. The Tit tree told that the fragmented piece should be attached. He asked where the Effigy queen tower was? The Tit replied "It was not a tranquil, not a castle and not a place. It would be always noisy until it ends. It was inside a loyal once". Jack asked one more question about the Effigy queen tower. But the tree gave him a map to Effigy queen tower and again went into a slumber. His friends were toady to tell but there was no response. There were greatly disillusioned after seeing the map because there was only one letter, it was letter "C".

Ruby Heart Diamond

EFFIGY QUEEN TOWER

Jack was downcast about finding the fragmented stone and about the riddle. The smarter Little Prince asked to retell the riddle with conviction of finding the answer to the riddle. Mittu with the amused voice said, it was not tranquil, not a castle and not a place. Little Prince told to halt and said it was not a place but could be a thing. It should be in the interior of something's and told Mittu to resume the riddle. Mittu asked where I left 'mmmm'; oh yes; there would always be noise, until its end. Little Prince told which things would always produce noise, it may be ocean waves. Mittu jested that Jack's heart was thumping 'Lub-dub, lub-dub' I thought it must be a terror of finding his family. The Little Prince told with an exhilaration that "Yes, you are correct because the heart was pounded continually and also it was inside a loyal once. They deciphered the riddle. But this answer brought them to more bewilderment. Little Prince asked whose heart was that. Mittu called Jack and told him "Jack, you could ask the help of Mr. Riddles because he told you, "You could call me whenever you are in inconvenience".

Swiftly, a Mothman caught Jack with its lengthy nail and flew away with Jack. His friends were tried to frustrate him and began to fly toward the Mothman. Jack with roared said, Mothman to leave him and asked him who he was. It flew with the rapid fast. His friends were also continued him. A Mothman landed down on the burial ground and evacuated the Jack. It made its wings close the body and returned as a man with a lower part of snake, Mr. Riddles. His friends also reached the burial ground. Mittu was greatly astonished to see Mr. Riddles on the burial ground. Jack said, "Just now we thought you" Mr. Riddles made an appealed smile at them and recited a chant. A hair from his prolonged beard plucked out and switched into brown color.

It headed straight the Mittu and Little Prince. It started to move circumjacent them. The brown hair bound them both. They were against at that. Jack asked him "Why did you bind them?" another one, hair from his beard, brown prompted towards Jack and bound him. Mr. Riddles told them "I was a boy whose legs have been slashed on that day and I rescued you from the venom because I wanted to know the place where they were cursed at, the solution and this must done by you alone, Jack". Recited a chant, his right hand became translucent and his right hand became translucent, and he got his hand into his forehead and emerged out. Something more gleam inside his hand. The rays were let out from the gap between the fingers. The gleam vanished; he opened his hand gradually. It was a fragmented piece of the ruby heart diamond.

He threw the stone hastily towards Mittu. The end thwacked Mittu on the chest. Bleeding blood glittered into a bright ruby color. Jack and Little Prince were at the position of doing nothing else exclude clamoring. It was thunderbolt to them. Jack told Mr. Riddles "If you want me, then why did you kill Mittu?". Mr. Riddle told halfwit, it was not a tranquil, not a castle and not even a place and there would always be a noisy, it was a heart. It was inside a loyal once; it was Omicrish. Whose next carnation was a Parrot. You fools were failed to understand. I would affix the stone and vanquish the most powerful ruby heart diamond to become an immortal. He blew a magical powder on him. It made him into a pendant with Tanzanite crystal. He affixed the Tanzanite crystal pendant on his prong of the chain. He wore a chain with pendant on his neck.

He saw a map on a ground made up of tiger leather. He asked the Little Prince about this map. He told that it was a map to Effigy queen tower', queen by Tit tree. Mr.Riddles opened the map, which was made up of tiger leather, and it was with an only single letter, which was the letter 'C', written with stymphalpan bird's logo like a dot pattern assembled the form of 'C'. He was disappointed on seeing the map because he couldn't understand the letter 'C' what it symbolized. He blew a magical powder on Little Prince he became a sculpture. Now the bleeding from Mittu heart was stopped. A heart from his body came out and flew alone and glittered were spotted here and there which was a small red hearted light. He took a mirror from his long jacket pocket and manifested towards the heart. The mirror gulped all the lights from the heart. It turned into drab. The mirror broken due to the extreme bright. So, the gulped lights were released out from the mirror and it mutated into vacant ball. The ball came towards him. Mr. Riddles touched it, he got into the ball.

He saw downward; he noticed that he was standing in substantial floor with red and blue nerves on it, which were veins and arteries. He kept some steps towards arteries and saw the pendant. It didn't give luminosity. So he changed to the second way (veins). The pendant gleamed at once and off to the stage when he took off his first step on veins. He felt something jiggled on his jacket pocket. He took a map out of his pocket, it jiggled more and more. He opened the map, it was quiet in its old state. It again started to jiggle. He opened the map without further ado stymphaian bird started to shout.

When he took a step ahead, a bird on the map, became alive and flew out of the map. Another step that made another stymphanian bird flew out of the map. A stage, where there were no birds, all the birds were flown out and the map was now filled up with empty. He saw ante; there was no queen tower as reachable to eyes. He opened the map with anticipation for getting way to Effigy queen tower. A head of an angelic lady thought to be queen and with birds feather and scaly feet emerged out from the map. A creature with the combination of half bird and half women, Siren. It told Mr.Riddles to follow her. She flew with a greater force. He couldn't manage the speed. So, he changed into the bird with half men and half-bird. He looked straight away.

He was submerged by many optimistic feelings to become immortal, ruling the world but that feeling hadn't continued for a second. As looked an Effigy queen tower he was amazed by its beauty; surprised by its construction; elated for entering into it. Siren vanished as he entered into the Effigy queen tower. He back to his origin and was bewildered because there was on nothing in the tower. He felt something jiggled on his hand. He noticed that the map was tried to flatter. He freed up the map. The map started to flatter, Mr. Riddles followed the map. It affixed at the wall and he touched the man it tugged him into it. The map brought him to the next side of the tower.

There were many sculptures he understood that those were the cursed sculptures of people, king and queen of Royal palace. The fragmented diamond was in the middle of the stupendous hooded snake in green, it was shielding the other part of the fragmented diamond. When Mr.Riddles endeavor to go near the diamond, it became so belligerent and attempt to bite. He changed himself into a gigantic Blue fired eagle. A snake spread its head, which was an alarm to the eagle for being a battle and elapsed its body height towards the eagle. A fire gleamed at eagle eyes and produced the guttural vibration. In response, the snake opened its mouth and spit the poison from its teeth. Frenzied fight commenced, after a second the eagle seemed to be weakened. Snake thought it was considered to be more precious time to complete eagle. So, the snake stretched its body to twist the body of eagle. It came to its neck but the rays on the pendant on the neck of the blue fired eagle hit the head of the snake. The pendant started to glow bright and the glowing rays entered into the body of the snake making it shrink and weak. The pendant shimmered more than prior and the rays of the shimmer came out from its eyes. It vanished.

He moved towards to another fragmented peace of the stone and he linked the fragmented diamond. It became a complete heart and it ridden. The stone heart moved towards the Effigy queen statue and affixed at her in the pivot of the forehead. As the heart diamond affixed at her, the statue smashed into thousands of mini pieces. The diamond soared towards the plafond with the red sparkles. The sparkled redden rays mingled with the sun lights in Effigy queen tower. As these rays were passed to the sculpture and covered them in the colorful rays, then they were removed from the curse. The curse was broken and hope of the people won.

Mr. Riddles went near the king and queen. He told them 'Dad, Mom I am your son". They embraced with the roll down tears on their right eyes, queen hair was tangled with the blue crystal pendant. As she liberates from the hug, the pendant was eliminated from his neck and fell on the floor. The pendant shimmered once more the rays hit on the plafond. The patted rays showed the royal symbol on the plafond. The royal symbol was into the vivid Rays on plafond, while she crooked to take she saw the tail of Mr.Riddles. She took the pendant on her hand it gleamed more and sensed something new. She told the king that he must be not our son and she monition the king and told him about his tail. This provoked Mr.Riddles but tolerant because he knew that he could conquer the stone only by acceptances of king and queen. But attempt to prove them that he was their son.

The king was not ready to believe him. He tried to prevent his people from him, so he ordered them to move back. Mr.Riddles also lost his tolerance and thought to get the diamond by his vicious powers. So, he told them who he was. They both engaged themselves into the fight. King knew that he couldn't win Mr.Riddles. So, he showed his hand towards the diamond. It came to his hand and it became small. King attached the diamond on the quillon block of his sword and he thought to chop his tail. It automatically moved towards him and the powerful red heart diamond sword chopped his tail. He lost all his power because of being his power part eliminated from his body. All his power was crumbled and released out, so Jack was released from the pendant and Little prince was also released from statue. A curse broken, a suck on a place and all they came to the Royal Palace.

It's new with the lovely parents, people, king, and queen. Filled the new modes of a Royal Palace into 'The Great Royal Palace'. All their eyes emitted the happiness and glow, Little Prince with Jack. But now the heart nostalgic about the best friend of his dad and sole of his son in another, a best friend of a king and sole of a prince, 'Omicrish'. His heart was on the round table, the heart changed into a golden sculpture which souvenir the true sacrifice.

Auspicious morning began with the filled hearts of a new era. Main city attached with the It's Me; a gloomy door replaced into a merry door; negative vibes burst from the forest instead filled up with pure love; freed shell on Omicrown and new lesson of trust in true love. As these happened when the sun light mingled with the air of gold heart and spread throughout the place.

ANGEL PRIN

The rule of 'The Great Royal Palace' began when it welcome the sun and its golden rays light up the unbridged city, without banging the doors and windows of the house, the rays of the sun-filled up in every nook and cranny of the city and never a one could conceal from it, may be concealed on the jet black.

The congregation started up with the new position and with a new person on the royal chairs. As what the Little Prince saw on his 'Music Land', he became the member of The Great Royal Palace congregation and was in a snazzy silk dress. Another royal chair for Omicrown, who could now clearly see, could perch on the royal chair and also with the freed carapace. The time moved post – haste, which turned the morning into good afternoon; good afternoon into good evening twilight; great evening twilight into night.

The ceremony incessant with a grand banquet at the palace with the new experience with new people and it commenced with the prayer of 'Thanks to god'. Jack was in jubilation to had supper with his family and people but yearning for Mittu. But he was matured enough to understand that he won't come because he was 'Rest in peace'. A reflection of rays on his face distracted his gloomy mood and diverted on the red hearted stone which was again replaced on the throne but the incantation protecting the stone "only king could touch the stone". It emanated a question how the stone got more power and what was the power and also why Mr.Riddles tried to conquer this stone for becoming immortal. What was the specialty of the red hearted stone and why it was at the throne not at the protected place? He was so muddled, so he probed to his father, Muubin Leonet Henry. He enunciated "Jack don't overthink while eating it may blemished your health". The supper got over.

Little Prince passed some hours with his friend Jack, on talking about how he got out from the pendant and how he annihilated Mr. Riddles, then they off to their bed. Jack went to his bed, abruptly pummel beyond the door. He opened the door it was his parents he was such fervor about the time that he was gone to spend with his parents. His father Leonet said "Jack, I want to tell you a secret story about the red hearted diamond and I am unable to tell this story in ante of others because it's a great big secret". Jack hark to the secret with fervent.

His father said once upon a time there was a place called 'Angel Prin'. This was a place where fairies were there and this was an amazing place with all auspicious prosperous it was like a paradise. All the girls in this city have an Angel Prin symbol on the wrist of left hand and boys at the right hand and the color of the symbol would change according to their feelings. This fairies had a white crystal ring on the pinkie finger. This crystal would be white when they were with a good and true thriving heart if their malignity, malicious and bad intentions, the white crystal would be changed into pitch-black.

There was a tremendous blue rhombus diamond in the Angel Prin. It gave powers to the unabridged fairies lived in that city and this stone was tutelage by the 'Radiant vant' dynasty and they were the emperor of that city.

Many warlocks tried to conquer the stone but failed. An Omnipotent warlock with eyebrow slit at the right side and also with the red eyes. He coalescence all the evil power into a single dark evil warlock and he annexed many demons and created a big demons swarm for the battle against 'Angel Prin'. A battle began amidst demons and fairies to conquer the stone was a nation of demons and to tutelage the stone was a nation of fairies. The demons trounced the Angel prin. A princess of Angel Prin tried to rescue the blue rhombus diamond because if the demons conquer the stone, then the evil powers demolish the entire sacred powers and turn the world under the control of demons.

After they won in the battle the blue rhombus diamond was mutated into dark black rising up from the down, Princess with some others gave their integral powers to the blue diamond to evade becoming black. Many people were dying and some were at the extremes at death's door. The black came to the midst of the diamond as well as many peoples were continuously died. Now nature was also accompanied with the princess; the speaking tree; the moving flowers; potent fairies; they all sacrificed their powers to prevent the stone by standing entrench the stone and pressing the stone by their both hands.

The majority of the diamond was mutated into black. Instantaneous the blue diamond blast into three fragmented parts. Many of them died by that vibration and the princess was flung by the bursting out vibration. The pieces changed into red after it fragmented and hurl in divergent places. The first piece was in Bald Philippine, the second piece was affixed on the throne of the king and the third piece was still unknown. If they affixed the first two pieces of red stone, it mutation into purple and gave them the power to control the It's Me and Main city. The warlock conquered the first fragmented piece at the 'Bald philippine.' Jack, we want to firm the body and make the heart steadfast for upcoming consequences because they must come back with new tactics.

There was a big cascades in the Finner forest on It's Me there I saw a girl with Angel Prin symbol on her left hand. The symbol color changed in obedience with the feeling when I saw the symbol was in golden color, which symbolizes the triumph over the demons on protecting the stone but not the 'Angel Prin'. She was with some laceration, even couldn't fly and there was red hearted stone nearer to her. I took the stone and brought her to The Great Royal Palace for the treatment. After the treatment, all was normal exclude her wings. She lost the capability of flying. So she wrapped her wings as a gown. Later I married her. Jack was startled because that was his mother and also a princess of fairies in Angel Prin. Jack said to his mother "Even though you were not a princess fairy, you're always princess for your Jack, mom; because you are my mother" and caressed the cheek. He slept on her lap, which was a place of love, mother lap.
